The image displays a 15x15 grid of symbols, likely representing a matrix or a set of data points. The symbols are arranged in a grid where each row corresponds to a value from -1 to 1 and each column corresponds to a value from 151 to 211. The symbols used include various mathematical operators such as addition (+), subtraction (-), multiplication (*), division (/), modulus (%), and logical operators like AND (&), OR (|), XOR (^), NOT (~), and comparison operators (==, !=, <, >, <=, >=). The pattern of symbols is highly structured and follows a specific rule, possibly representing a convolutional kernel or a neural network's internal state. The grid is rendered in black and white, with the symbols being the primary data elements.
